The figure represents the Manager's best estimate of the ongoing charges based on the estimated costs and expenses of the class over 12 months. The figure may vary from year to year.

Dividend policy:	Non-Distributing Unit Classes: No dividends will be declared or paid. ▸ Class 2 Distributing Unit Classes: The dividend is calculated and declared monthly and distributed to unitholders based upon the number of units held at the month end. ▸ Class 10 Class 10 will distribute income gross of expenses (i.e. payment of fees and expenses out of capital). This will result in an increase in distributable income available for payment as dividends, and therefore, these classes may effectively pay dividends out of capital. Any distributions involving payment of dividends out of capital or payment of dividends effectively out of capital may result in an immediate reduction

What is this product?

Systematic Global Equity High Income Fund (the "Fund") is a sub-fund of BlackRock Premier Funds, an umbrella unit trust established under the laws of Hong Kong.

Objective and Investment Strategy

Objective

The investment objective of the Fund is to generate a high level of income.

Strategy

The Fund seeks to achieve its investment objective by investing at least 70% of its total assets in stocks of companies worldwide.

In order to achieve its investment objective and policy, the Fund will invest in a variety of investment strategies and instruments. In particular, the Fund will use quantitative (i.e. mathematical or statistical) models in order to achieve a systematic (i.e. rule based) approach to stock selection. The quantitative models are designed and built by the Manager (and, where applicable, the Investment Adviser(s)). This means that stocks will be selected based on their expected contribution to portfolio returns when risk and transaction cost forecasts are taken into account. The Manager (and, where applicable, the Investment Adviser(s)) retain the discretion to disregard certain stocks selected to manage portfolio risk in response to rare unexpected company events.

The Fund may also invest in emerging markets (such as Brazil, South Africa and South Korea).

Subject to applicable regulatory restrictions and internal guidelines, the remaining 30% of the Fund's assets may be invested in financial instruments of companies or issuers of any size in any sector of the economy globally such as equity securities consistent with the Fund's objective and cash.

The Fund's expected total maximum investment in debt instruments with loss-absorption features, including but not limited to contingent convertible bonds, will be less than 30% of its net asset value. These instruments may be subject to contingent write-down or contingent conversion to ordinary shares on the occurrence of trigger event(s).

The Fund may use derivatives for hedging, efficient portfolio management and investment purposes.

Use of derivatives / investment in derivatives

The Fund's net derivative exposure may be up to 50% of the Fund's latest net asset value.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Prospectus for details including the risk factors.

1. Investment Risks

   The Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors below and therefore your investment in the Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee of the repayment of principal.

2. Currency Risks

- Underlying investments of the Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Fund. Also, a class of units may be designated in a currency other than the base currency of the Fund. The net asset value of the Fund may be affected unfavourably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the base currency and by changes in exchange rate controls.

- RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions which, under exceptional circumstances, may cause a delay in payment of redemptions and/or dividend payments in RMB. Although offshore RMB (“CNH”) and onshore RMB (“CNY”) are the same currency, they trade at different rates. Any divergence between CNH and CNY may adversely impact investors.

3. Equity Risk

The values of equities fluctuate daily and the Fund investing in equities is subject to general market risks and could incur significant losses. The price of equities can be influenced by many factors at the individual company level, as well as by broader economic and political developments, including changes in investment sentiment, trends in economic growth, inflation and interest rates, issuer-specific factors, corporate earnings reports, demographic trends and catastrophic events.

4. Risks associated with income-generating investment strategy

The Fund pursues an investment strategy in order to generate income which may reduce the potential for capital growth and future income of the Fund.

5. Emerging Market Risks

The Fund invests in emerging markets, and may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as liquidity risks, currency risks/control, political and economic uncertainties, taxation risks, settlement risks, custody risk and the likelihood of a high degree of volatility.

6. Foreign Investments Restrictions Risks

Some countries prohibit or restrict investment, or the repatriation of income, capital or the proceeds from sale of securities. The Fund may incur higher costs investing in these countries. Such restrictions may delay the investment or repatriation of capital of the Fund.

7. Small/Mid Cap Companies Risks

Many small/mid cap company stocks trade less frequently and in smaller volume, and may be subject to more abrupt or erratic price movements than stocks of large companies. The securities of small/mid cap companies may also be more sensitive to market changes than the securities of large companies.

8. Liquidity Risks

The size and trading volume of securities in the markets relevant to the Fund may be substantially smaller than developed markets. This may lead to investments in such securities becoming less liquid, making it difficult to dispose of them which may reduce the Fund’s returns/lead to losses for investors.

9. Derivatives Risks

Risks associated with derivatives include counterparty risk, liquidity risk, valuation risk, volatility risks and over-the-counter transaction risks. Derivatives may give rise to leverage and the risk of loss may be greater than the amount invested in the derivative and may expose the Fund to significant losses. In adverse situations, the use of financial derivative instruments by the Fund may be ineffective in hedging, cash management and/or investment purposes and the Fund may suffer significant losses.

10. Capital Growth Risks

Risks associated with fees and/or dividends paid out of capital

Any distributions involving payment of dividends out of capital (Class 10) or payment of dividends out of gross income (i.e. payment of fees and expenses out of capital) (Class 10) amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of an investor's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Whilst all dividends paid result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit, these unit classes may pay larger dividends (i.e. by paying dividends out of capital or gross income), which may therefore result in a larger reduction in the net asset value per unit.

The distribution amount and the net asset values of the currency hedged unit classes may be adversely affected by differences in the interest rates of the reference currencies of the currency hedged unit classes and the Fund's base currency, resulting in an increase in the amount of distribution that is paid out of capital and hence a greater erosion of capital than other non-currency hedged unit classes.
